K9CUISINE.COM & WELLNESS DONATE 10-THOUSAND POUNDS OF FOOD TO POOCH PANTRY TO HELP FAMILIES IN BAD ECONOMY

Mundelein, Illinois- K9Cuisine.com, one of the web's fastest growing online pet food stores, and the WellPet Foundation are teaming up to donate more than 10,000 pounds of all natural dog food to the Pooch Pantry to help families in financial crisis who are struggling to feed their pets. "Families are having a hard enough time trying to pay their mortgages and keep food on the table during these tough economic times," said Anthony Holloway, owner of K9Cuisine.com. "We are thrilled to be able to donate high quality pet food to help feed as many animals as we can and hope that the new supply will keep the food bank for pets stocked for months."

The Pooch Pantry is run out of the B.C. Dog Training Club in Mundelein and is open Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon. Many of the pet owners who come to the Pooch Pantry are seniors on fixed incomes. Holloway will personally deliver a truckload of premium pet food this Saturday. Wellness is shipping more than 5,300 pounds of dog food this week. The Wellness recipes have the highest quality natural ingredients carefully chosen for a dog or cat's optimum health benefits. Wellness promises: "Your pet's wellbeing is at the heart of all we do, that's why we do whatever it takes to make the healthiest natural products for the pets that depend on us."
